Profile:

Interact is the UK's first and only inter faith magazine written by and for 18-25 year olds.

The magazine's content is predominantly written by University students, from a variety of faith and cultural backgrounds.

Being a life-style magazine, Interact contains articles about everything to do with being young and from a faith background. It includes sections on politics, food, sports, music, fashion, faiths, culture, as well as London listings, features, interviews and information.

Interact magazine is a resource of information, crossing cultural boundaries, and giving a voice to students from all faith backgrounds.

Our readers are well educated, future professionals who are interested in cultural diversity and social responsibility both locally and globally.

The magazine is distributed free to universities and colleges, across London – reaching over 5,000 students quarterly.
